Purpose

1. To protect Canadian Athletes and Coaches.

Scope and Application

2. For Canadian coaches that work under the Canada Snowboard Coaching Program (“CSCP”).

Responsibility and Accountability

3. Coaching Minimum Standards
 - a. Canada Snowboard and the Coaching Association of Canada (“CAC”) have clear minimum certification standards for coaches attending Canada Snowboard Sanctioned events.
 - b. These standards are not to act as a road block for coaches. Coaches that do not meet the minimum requirements and have the event in their seasonal plan can request a mentor if not currently attending event with a coach certified at the Comp Dev Level. The coach will be expected to complete the pathway to achieving the minimum standard.

Definitions and Principles

4. The Canada Snowboard Coaching Program (“CSCP”) uses a skill development model based on the progression of skills and coaching competencies. Before learning a maneuver, coaches will work with their athlete to develop the fundamental skills required to perform that maneuver safely and correctly.
5. Canadian Snowboard coaches must work within the scope of training and competition level of the course they have completed.

- a. Courses are designed based on the Long-Term Development (“LTD”) stage for the athlete in which they are coaching to ensure they have the skill needed to support the specific level in which they work.
 - b. During eligible training and competition, the coach is covered under Canada Snowboard’s sanctioning for specified skills.
6. The recommendations of the Long-Term Development (“LTD”) in the following table outlines the intended maximum level of skill within the scope of practice for each stage. Any skill performed beyond the scope of training of the coach, is done at the personal liability of the athlete and coach, unless under the direct guidance and mentorship from a coach who meets the minimum standards. Under such supervision, the mentored coach is covered for one additional step in the progression box below.
