OUR CREDO

At Canada Snowboard, we believe embracing the culture of snowboarding combined with a commitment to excellence is the foundation of who we are. Performance at the highest level comes from an athlete-focused approach to training, programs and coaching. Our athletes are amongst the best in the world, and our goal is to continue to provide them the means to achieve their goals.

Our members are our Provincial and Territorial Associations. They are the backbone of the competitive snowboard pathway. From a young rider's first event, to joining a club, to progressing to the national team, our Provinces and Territories are key to developing our future high performance athletes. Our goal is to support our members to work together to provide the best possible system for organized snowboarding on the planet. From coaches to officials, judges to events, sport development to high performance, creating strong alignment from coast to coast in each area will allow us to offer the best possible experience to each participant from park to podium.

We believe our strategic plan encompasses the values and strategies that will allow us to build on our past success to reach future excellence, all through staying true to our core.

A message from the Chair & Executive Director

Create a plan, implement tactics on a priority basis and keep moving forward. This is our general approach for delivering on our mission at Canada snowboard: to develop and lead competitive snowboarding in Canada. Drawing upon lessons learned each year, we continually look for opportunities to improve our operations, enhance our governance and to further develop the overall competitive snowboarding environment. As we collectively strive to enhance our overall impact, it's important to note that it is not about perfection but rather excellence, and not simply end results but progress.

Looking back over the last year, we can confidently claim that progress has been made. For example:

- We have committed to more equitable support for all disciplines, abiding to the principle that if a snowboard discipline is on the Olympic or Paralympic program, then it is our responsibility to support it in the most practicable terms.
- A "Technical Program Committee (TPC)" brings together the impressive knowledge of the technical leaders in our community to create guidelines and handbooks as a resource for all our members.
- Regarding equity, we are undertaking a significant project in an agreement with Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada to bring snowboarding to indigenous youth.
- We have an Athletes' Council that we are working with to ensure that athletes are engaged in the decision making processes of Canada Snowboard and have a direct link to the Board.
- As part of our overall organizational alignment, the rebranding of CS, along with the PTSA launch this coming spring, is an exciting initiative at an ideal time, promoting our new brand and look on a world stage going into the Games.

As stated last year, there will never be a shortage of challenges as a national sport organization, it is how we respond to each and every challenge that we face that ultimately determines our success. One of our most significant challenges that arises every four years is results attained at the Olympic and Paralympic Games, less than three months away. Under the current targeted excellence approach for funding, it is how we are measured and what determines the supplemental funding we receive as recommended by OTP. The results our athletes achieve in PyeongChang 2018 will have a profound impact on our long-term high performance funding but it does not simply rest on their shoulders.

Over the years we have worked hard on our approach to high performance, including staff, coaches and of course the athletes all diligently working on achieving excellence. Given the nature of sport, especially winter sport, there are no guarantees but we have taken steps to help ensure that each of our national team athletes selected to go to the Games have the best possible opportunity to achieve their personal bests. We can ask nothing more than for each of them to give it their all and if each athlete on the day of competition performs to their full potential, then the results will be what they are at the end of the day. However, rest assured that snowboarding will be a big part of the excitement around the 2018 Winter Games and that our athletes will contribute significantly to 'Canadian pride'.

Details on our programs and finances outlined in this report provide further insight into the full scope of our operations. While scrutinizing numbers, it is critical to note the commitment of our sponsors and key funding partners, especially Sport Canada along with the Canadian Olympic Committee and Canadian Paralympic Committee, which enables us to continue our mission. For this we remain truly grateful!

Our last thank you goes out to our Provincial and Territorial members - and partners - for what they do for snowboarding on a daily basis. They directly represent the considerable numbers of staff, volunteers, clubs, resorts and other stakeholders that enable so many to pursue competitive snowboarding. Of course, there is always more to be done and together, we're ready for that challenge. Always keep improving!

SLOPESTYLE TEAM

The Slopestyle team picked up where it left off in 2015/2016, capturing several podiums in 2016/17. We are one of the top nations for Slopestyle and the hardest part with this discipline will be nominating only 4 from the Mens team to the Olympics, when all 6 are podium potential for the Games. Laurie Blouin took home the title of FIS Slopestyle World Champion and the ladies team will all be potentials to podium at the Games. This is an exciting year for the discipline and everyone will be watching the Canadian riders throughout the winter.

Mark McMorris returned from breaking his femur in 2015/2016 and had one of the most successful seasons of his career before experiencing a major injury in the Whistler Backcountry. Since his recent injury he has returned to snow and training, Mark will be able to compete at numerous elite level events leading into the Games which he and Max Parrot have already pre-qualified for. Mark is already riding at a high level again and is healthy at this point.

← Derek Livingston

HALFPIPE

The Halfpipe team continued to show encouraging results on the FIS World Tour including World Cups and the 2017 World Championships. Our newest member to the National Team, Elizabeth Hosking is a 2022 podium potential aiming for a spot at the 2018 Winter Olympics. Her first major competition, the 2017 World Championships where she placed 14th , shows a promising future for the young Halfpipe rider. Canada Snowboard continues to help with the Halfpipe training facility at COP for the team to train at regularly, our commitment to building the program will see a positive growth for the future of the discipline in Canada.

Chris Robanske →

← Kevin Hill

SBX

With a string of bad luck and an injury to the head technical coach keeping him off snow for a portion of the season, the results were not what was expected heading into this season. Despite this, our top riders still managed to keep a high ranking on the world tour. The new comers to the team Meryeta O'Dine and Baptiste Brochu improved once again with multiple big final finishes and some podium results.

Megan Farrell →

ALPINE

The Alpine team has been given new life with the addition of Jan Wengelin as the Head coach, recently hired Emily Dee as the Assistant coach and Patrik Gaudet as the NextGen Coach. With the three of them collaborating and continuing to push the Alpine discipline from all levels, we are seeing positive changes heading into the Olympic year. The Alpine team will be following the world cup tour in hopes of opening quota to attend the games. Jasey-Jay Anderson placed 7th in PGS at the 2017 FIS World Championships, showing he is still a threat to the young guns of the sport. If Jasey-Jay attends the 2018 games he will be the most experienced Canadian athlete heading to the Winter Olympics this year and the only Snowboarder in the world to attend all of the Olympics since Snowboarding was included.

PARA-SNOWBOARD

The Para-snowboard National and NextGen teams continued to progress their results at international events, obtaining three bronze World Cup medals - one in Banked Slalom and two in Snowboardcross, rounding out the season with 7 top 5 results and 15 top 10 results in the various sport classifications and disciplines with high level competitors in each field. Canada had a strong showing at the 2017 Big White World Para Snowboard Championships which saw a record 18 nations compete in 10 medal events. The Canadian squad finished strong, with two notable 4th place finishes in Snowboardcross and a 5th place in Banked Slalom. The para-snowboard teams continued to make large strides in their overall consistency at major events throughout the season leading into and through the Paralympic Test event in South Korea. Canada came home with a Bronze medal and 4th place finish in Snowboardcross and a top 5 result in Banked Slalom from this event.

Newly identified development riders made strong progress within their overall skill development and recorded consistent event results at the NorAm and World Cup level. An exciting addition to the Para-snowboard program saw the inclusion of a dedicated NextGen coach tasked with the development of identified competitive snowboarders. We are very excited for the impact the NextGen program will have on the development and progression of these riders over the next few years.

John Leslie →

NEXTGEN & DEV GROUPS

The NextGen Slopestyle Program continued to gain steam and international recognition in the 2016-17 season. Athletes increased their international experience riding on the World Cup Tour, with numerous top 16 finishes. The team dominated the North American Tour, sweeping the overall NorAm Tour Podiums. Their competitive season ended with four athletes finishing within the top 10 at the Junior World Championships. In addition to the Slopestyle program, our Development Group athletes in Snowboardcross, Alpine and Halfpipe demonstrated that Canada has a very strong future in all of our disciplines. The competition performances and potential was recognized by Sport Canada and Own the Podium, and for the 2017-18 season, all disciplines are now funded and targeted as NextGen Programs.

Freestyle NATIONALS

Building off a successful Sport Chek Air Nation Nationals the year before, the crew over at Mt. St. Louis Moonstone and Horseshoe resort outdid themselves again, putting on another successful edition of the freestyle national championships. Largely in part to the incredible support of the immensely qualified Snowboard Ontario volunteers and officials, the event was a big success with athletes and coaches alike, who also benefited from an improved Slopestyle course at Mt. St. Louis Moonstone.

Saturday night's Big Air contest was once again a major hit, and Nationals has once again proven to be a major win for the development of the next wave of Canadian riders.

Speed NATIONALS

For the second consecutive year, the Sports Experts Speed Nation Nationals were hosted by Association Quebec Snowboard, this time at Mont Tremblant. Despite challenging weather conditions, staff and volunteers were able to put together an excellent event that was attended by a large group of national and international athletes.

The venue was in a fantastic location, and ensured it was visible and accessible by the general public, raising the profile of the event and our sponsors. The snowboardcross course was a highlight with athletes and course organizers alike, and was most likely one of the best nationals SBX tracks constructed in the past 5 years .

JAMBOREE

Through a successful collaboration with Freestyle Canada, Jamboree played host to both a pair of Snowboard and Freestyle ski world cups at the same time, which represents a first in Canadian history. The combined event was a major hit with organizers and the public, and the Canada Snowboard team successfully defended home soil by capturing 5 medals, including 2 gold, across Slopestyle and Big Air.

Once again Jamboree was the place to be in Quebec city, with a plethora of activities and sponsorship activations from Canada Snowboard partners to ensure it remains one of the most exciting and engaging domestic world cups in Canada.

2017 BIG WHITE WORLD PARA SNOWBOARD CHAMPIONSHIPS

This was the second World Para Snowboard Championships (under the International Paralympic Committee) and the Big White 2017 World Para Snowboard Championships were a resounding success. Double the participation, spectators and the sponsors compared to the first World Para Snowboard Championships with over 18 countries competing with more than 80 athletes and 60 coaches/support staff. The Canadian team enjoyed several top 5 and top 10 performances on home soil, and several members were profiled as part of CBC's overall event coverage.

The relationship building between Big White Ski Resort, various levels of government, the Canadian Paralympic Committee, Sponsors, and various media partners will ensure the long-term health of National/Provincial able-bodied and Para-snowboard events for years to come.

CANADA SNOWBOARD REBRAND

Like everything, it started as a vision. As an idea that was lucky enough to be materialized into this world. You see most ideas aren't that lucky, most ideas don't make it that far. Looking back the concept may seem simple, but that plank of wood needed guts, and a creative mind to guide it down hill sideways; and as snowboarders, no matter where any of us come from, those are the roots we share.

In Canada we all have a forced relationship with the snow, and though some resent that, us snowboarders certainly do not. Since its inception, Canada Snowboard has had the role of representing our take on the sport to the rest of the world. We know the responsibility, and for the last twenty-six years we've been learning and growing. This rebrand is the next step in our evolution.

Our new values tell our story. We may not all come from the same place, and none of us were brought up alike, but we're connected. Our passion is snowboarding; the sport, the culture, the lifestyle, and we each bring something unique to it. That's the beauty, that's why we exist so well together. There is no right way down, the direction we take is our own. Some of us have chosen the path of competition, and some of us will never leave our local hill. The choice is yours. We're the sum of all our parts, from the first timers to the Olympians, from our coaches to the up-lifters behind the scenes. We're all on our own journey to the summit.

Our new logo was an effort born from the collaboration of the entire organization. We wanted to make sure that everyone involved with the brand had an opportunity to be a part of the process. The result is a logo that illustrates where we're from, and the place in which we prosper. A mountain, the canvas on which we as snowboarders use to paint in anyway we see fit. The maple leaf, our nation, what makes us distinct from the rest of the world. A black diamond, the most difficult path, the symbol of the highest level of achievement.

This rebrand is the way we picture possibility and our trail map for what's to come. We hold those before us with the highest level of respect, and can only hope to add to the legacy of snowboarding in Canada.
